Mountain Report 1/1/22 7:07 AM

Good Morning and Happy New Year! Our grooming crews have been working hard all night laying corduroy on some of your favorite runs, and there is still plenty of powder to be found around the mountain. Come on up for another beautiful day of skiing and riding at Crystal! Please do your part to stay safe and keep us open by wearing proper masks indoors. Uphill travel is allowed only thru the Meadow and Quicksilver. Check online (listed below) for current uphill travel status.

Night skiing is canceled Dec 30 through Jan 2 due to extremely cold temps and unsafe driving conditions. Night skiing on weekends will resume January 7. Please read the details HERE. Remember to sign up for a FREE seat on the Crystal Mountain Express Bus now running daily through January 2. Paid parking is now in effect daily through January 2nd and Friday through Sunday all season. Learn more about the new Parking & Transportation Options before heading up. As a reminder all 21/22 season's pass holders must register their license plate online or will be subject to parking violations this season.

Mountain Forecast 12/31/2021 3:00 PM

New Year's Day delivers another dose of brass monkey weather with broken skies and variable winds at ridgetops. Freezing levels will begin to rise Saturday afternoon ever so slightly along with increasing ridgetop winds. Weather in the PNW begins to take a turn as we brace ourselves for stormy encounters.

Friday Night: Partly Cloudy. Freezing level 0ft. Light WNW winds at ridgetops.

Saturday: Partly Sunny. Freezing increasing to 1000ft. Light to moderate SW winds at ridgetops.

Saturday Night: Overcast. Freezing level 500ft. Moderate increasing to strong S winds at ridgetops.

Weather Outlook: Just South of Valdez, a swollen low-pressure system is poised to pitch into the PNW. Expect cranky winds early morning Sunday with increasing strong to very strong South winds whipping our ridgelines before subsiding Monday. Post frontal snow showers should be quite generous with continued cooling through the extended.

Forecaster: Mike Haft

OTHER IMPORTANT UPDATES

Summit House is closed today due to staffing shortage. We apologize for the inconvenience. Stop by Tower 16 for grab-and-go food at the summit; Campbell Basin Lodge for mid-mountain lunch; Rafters, Fireside Cantina and Cascade for all-day food at the base.

Masks are required indoors at all times unless actively eating or drinking, we appreciate your cooperation. All current Covid-19 protocols can be found HERE.

Reminder when dining in any of our indoor venues please respect that outside food and beverages are not allowed in our licensed establishments per Washington State law. Outside food is only permitted at outdoor picnic tables or back at your vehicles.

What's new this season? Check out all our fresh additions HERE.

UPHILL TRAVEL ADVISORY

Uphill travel is currently subject to regular winter operating season restrictions. Watch out for heavy equipment, snow making, and other maintenance work. If you are planning to travel uphill please make sure you read and understand our policies and look for approved routes before heading out.
